Thanks I just saw that the account was offline and am funding it. I'll look forward to the package.

I am going quite a few places.. just meeting with clients, etc. Nothing too thrilling though :)

Kristy -

The package went out today via FedEx and should be there this Friday ☺

You going anywhere fun on your trip?

Also, wanted to let you know 87056 winantivirus ran out of funds - I just noticed as I was wrapping up for the day and wanted to let you know!

Thank you,

Geoff,

I have another address I could give you. When would you ship it? I am planning to leave town here the upcoming week.. and I won't be back for awhile. Let me know if you'd still like to send it and I'll give you an address I can be reached at.

Thanks,

Good morning Kristy!

I wanted to ask you something real quick – our new marketing guy put together a real neat "Geek Kit" for distribution clients and I wanted to send you one since you have been so great to work with – I wasn't sure where to ship it to...is the profile address the best one to use or is there another address you would prefer I use? I would normally just send something, but I really wanted to make sure you got it! ☺

Let me know when you have a moment.

Geoff,

Thanks for the help really. We have lost people in the past, so I know what incidents like this can create. Your team at Mygeek is definitely the best we have dealt with.. and we advertise everywhere. Usually it's hours and days for a response :)

Thanks.. hope the weather is treating you well out there.. it's pouring over here.

This traffic source doesn't pick up traffic at that rate – though a handful of clicks make it through. I just did that because though because there is no threat there I can go ahead and turn it on if you'd like.

might be able to get this source back up for 89573 before I leave tonight – I am waiting for word from the team.

it also looks like the ron account winfixerron2 (90448) is still not marked as having traffic from 110077. Is this one still on hold also or it just has not been turned back on?

Tim,

Got this additional information that may help you find the problem.

We have two RON advertiser accounts that were trying to get your traffic. One was working, the other wasn't. The actual advertiser had similar URLs, but were slightly different. That led us to try altering the URL in the advertiser's account that wasn't working - and it started working!

Geoff's message below shows what the original URL was that wasn't working and what we changed it to, resulting in it starting to work.

Wanted to pass this on in case it assists your team in the debugging.

Thanks,

Robert

Hi Robert,

I talked with the programmers and we don't limit the size of urls. They tell me that anyway your urls are shorter than others we use.

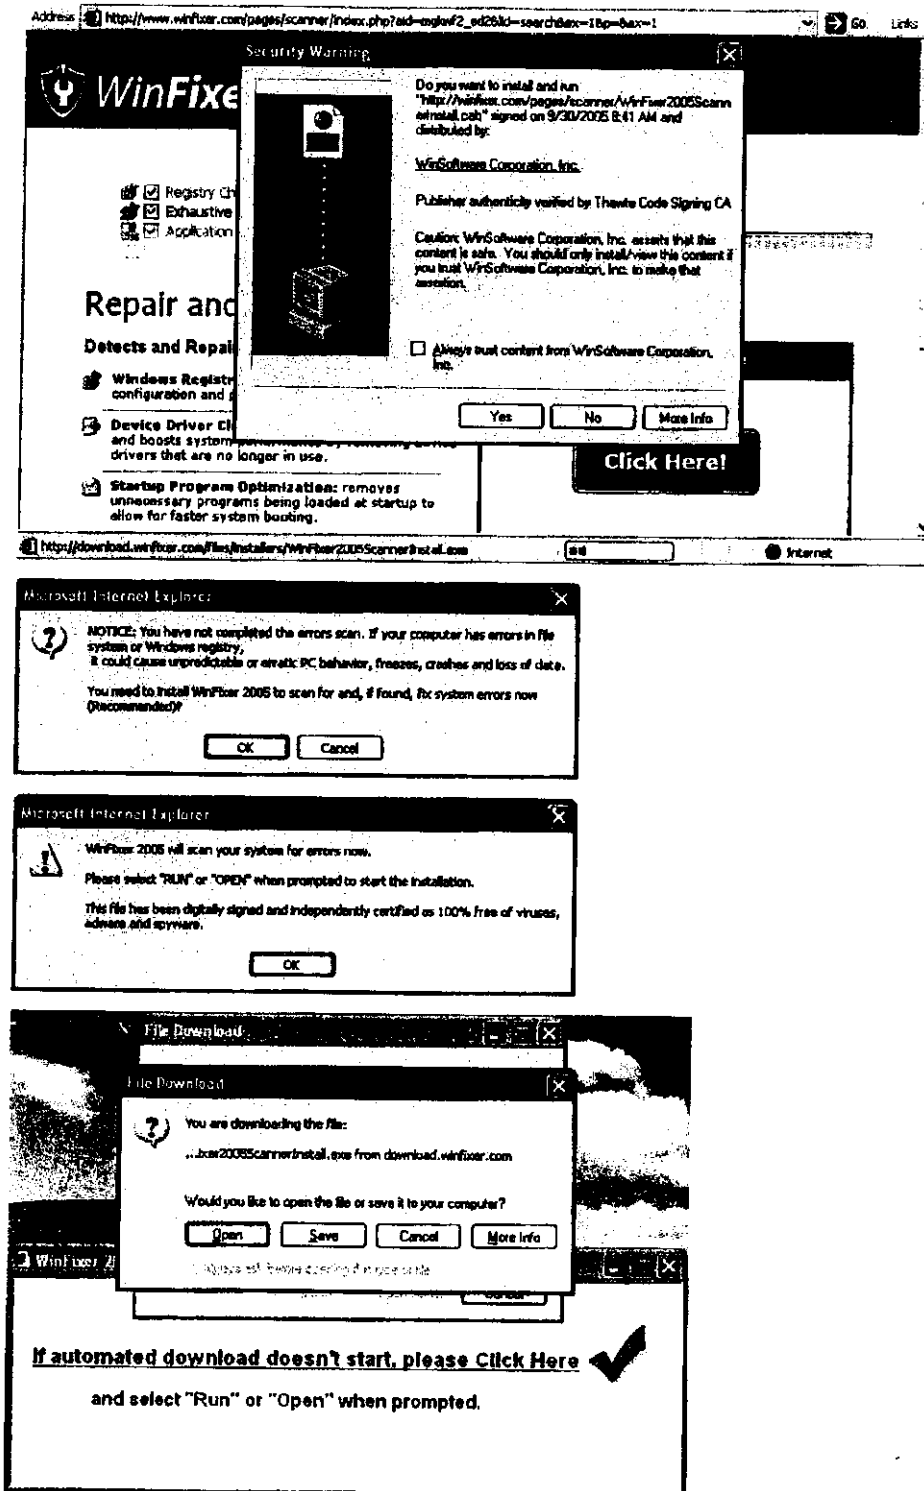

I thought it could be because we are in Canada? But setting a US proxy gives the same results.

Maybe they filter your IP to hide their behavior? Do you have any other idea?

On our side, these urls show this succession of windows and prompts:

FTC 048312

Let me know if there's anything we can do,

Jean-Nicolas,

I tried clicking on the links below for both 89573 and 90012. Both took me to the following URL:

<http://www.winfixer.com/pages/scanner/index.php?aid=mgwf1&id=com&p=3&ax=0>

Is this the URL you get when clicking on those?

This displays their standard ad - no multiple pops or ActiveX control downloads.

We had a similar problem with these ads with another partner. Same type of thing where we internally would always see the acceptable winfixer ad, but he would get the aggressive pops. The problem he was having was the URL was getting truncated (the conversion.cpvfeed.com url, like the ones you included below). Some kind of character limit he had in his desktop application. When those winfixer ad URLs get changed, it does start the aggressive pops. For example, take off the last part of the URL above:

<http://www.winfixer.com/pages/scanner/index.php?aid=mgwf1&id=com&p=3>

This link takes me to the same ad, but tries to do an ActiveX install.

Is there any possibility that your app has a hard character limit on URL strings?

Hi Robert,

We've started it again for 5 minutes and the problems were the same.

The vendorIDs we had at the beginning of the week were 89573

http://conversion.cpvfeed.com/presuits.jsp?

Vendor 90784 was the only one promoting WinFixer appropriately:

http://conversion.cpvfeed.com/presuits.jsp?

Right now vendors 89573 and 90012 are still doing the same thing and 90784 still popping one window only. 90729 was not seen in our 5 minutes test. The three bad ones are blocked again now.

Let me know if you have a quick solution for this so we could avoid a hole in the weekend revenues.

Thank you!

We've gone through every Winfixer account currently in our system, and are not seeing the problem. So as far as we know, the problem is resolved, and you can turn back on those ads.

We do monitor this on our end, and will continue to look for this problem. If it does reoccur, if you can send us the link used to display the ad, we can track it down and resolve it immediately.

Thanks,

Subject: Re: Keyword list

Hi Robert,

1. This morning we stopped all traffic going to domain winfixer.com because 95% of it's advertisement was a succession of at least five windows appearing after closing each previous one, including an ActiveX prompt and a .exe download prompt. This is a lot of traffic that is stopped. Can you could get those advertisers to display regular creatives or landing pages so we can start sending again those 200 thousand pops per day?

2. What are the rules for your advertisers? Our network only accepts one window pops, and doesn't accept ActiveXs or .exe prompts.

3. Thank you for the updated keywords list, we are working on ways to reduce its size in order to upload it faster to our clients.

4. Here is the form you requested with our EULA and Privacy policy.
You can download a toolbar which bundles SurfAccuracy with on Slotchbar.com (using IE).

5. The amendment to the contract was faxed back yesterday. Did you receive it and is everything ready to start with the new shares in October?

6. That's good news about the international traffic. Did it really open today? If so can you tell me what we need to add to the query string and what countries are accepted? We might also need another amendment to the contract if you open more than the original countries in the contract.

Jean-Nicolas

Robert,

The new account for 110181 is #500140

I also don't see any reason I don't believe to have it set up for RON & Keywords separately, I think it should be fine in the same account.

I'll restart traffic once everything is transferred over and I can verify all the accounts are correct.

Thanks,
Kristy

Kristy,

I've noticed a very small amount of traffic for 90012, but nothing for 89573 and 90448. Will be restarting those accounts today?

Anything more you need from me to get those going?

Also, let me know as soon as you have the new account(s) for 110181.

Thanks,

Robert

Subject: RE: Winfixer issue - account setup issues

Hi Kristy,

Sorry for the confusion.

Let me address each issue:

Issue 1:

Yes, probably best if you setup the new accounts, so the billing and everything is done correctly. We will need one for both the keywords and one for the RON for 110181. We can go ahead and set them up with the mgk181 URL. Do you want me to add in the keywords after you've created the accounts? Let me know when you have those setup.

Issue 2:

I have my DBA working on fixing the URLs in the 89573 account to the mygk1 URL. I'll let you know when he is done.

Issue 3:

My DBA will fix the URL in 90448 next with the mgkron2 URL.

Issue 4:

I'll make sure 110181 is turned off for the 90012 account and will have my DBA update the URLs to use the mgk2 URL.

As for which traffic sources, 110077 is bestoffers. 110276 is a different traffic source, but they also had requested no winfixer ads. So both 110077 and 110276 both need to be off in all accounts.

I'll keep you updated as each issue gets resolved.

Thanks,

Robert

Subject: Re: Winfixer issue - account setup issues

Robert,

Sorry I looked at my accounts and have quite alot of confusion.

I'm pausing my accounts in the meantime, as the links are seemily messed up all over the place and mostly all showing the 276 link.

Issue 1: The issue seems to be, a new account was not set up at all (which I never received a new account email, so I doubt I ever had a new account set up). I can set up this account myself if necessary, it takes no time at all for me to do it.

A new account should be set up, solely for partner whom was removed previously, being #110181 I believe. This partner should only have traffic run in this account

This account should have it's own link and only be run in this account for tracking purposes. The below link is the link the advertiser approved for this account:

<http://www.winfixer.com/pages/scanner/index.php?aid=mgk276&lid=keywordhere&p=3&ax=0>

Since you have already used this link and if it is too much trouble, we can set it up as:

<http://www.winfixer.com/pages/scanner/index.php?aid=mgk181&lid=keywordhere&p=3&ax=0>

This account was to include all the keywords from winfixer1 & winfixer2 into the new account. I am not sure what to do about RON, if I need to set up also an additional account for this advertiser for that as well (if they have RON?)

Issue 2:

winfixer1 (Keywords Account 1)
In account #89573 (should not have traffic on partner 110181)

This account is showing mgk276 links also, which it is not supposed to. This account, if mandatory to be changed from original links, should use format:

[http://www.winfixer.com/pages/scanner/index.php?
aid=mygk1&lid=keyword&p=3&ax=0](http://www.winfixer.com/pages/scanner/index.php?aid=mygk1&lid=keyword&p=3&ax=0)

Issue 3:

winfixerron2 account: (Run of Network)
In account #90448

(which seems to have all traffic sources enabled, minus those which are not allowed)

[http://www.winfixer.com/pages/scanner/index.php?
aid=mgk276&lid=RON&p=3&ax=0](http://www.winfixer.com/pages/scanner/index.php?aid=mgk276&lid=RON&p=3&ax=0)

This has been changed again, for all traffic sources.

IF this account needs to be changed

<http://www.winfixer.com/pages/scanner/index.php?aid=mgkron2&lid=RON&p=3&ax=0>

Issue 4:

winfixer2

In account #90012 (should also not have traffic on partner 110181, as the new account for this should include all these words)

If you are changing this account, which I see in the past email.. I also do not want this 276 link. I thought this was the new account, which is creating my confusion.

IF you are changing this account, please use:

[http://www.winfixer.com/pages/scanner/index.php?
aid=mgk2&lid=keywordhere&p=3&ax=0](http://www.winfixer.com/pages/scanner/index.php?aid=mgk2&lid=keywordhere&p=3&ax=0)

Sorry for all the confusion. Again I think the issue is that the "new" account was never created, hence all these issues. I have paused everything for the meantime until this is all resolved.

As a side note, I am ensure which accounts I can and can not be on.

Is bestoffers just # 110077 or do they have 2 numbers, which is 110276 also theirs as well? I think I recall them having 2.

Please let me know if you need me to create a new account and/or if you want me to change the links, as I think it's rather easy.

Thanks,
Kristy

Geoff,

Actually I do not want those two campaigns run on the same link. It makes it impossible to track anything from the partner and creates a lot more confusion if it's not separated.

Is there one account that is easier to change the links on than the other? I don't want to have the confusing links all over the place and run into more problems with links:

If you can replace the account 89573

<http://www.winfixer.com/pages/scanner/index.php?aid=mygk3&lid=keyword&p=3&ax=0>

And of course the keyword = the keyword in the account, and then leave the other account the same. I can't have them running the same link though. This link should be the same format.

Kristy – I have used the new link to replace the links in account 89573. I hope this will not be an issue...I wanted everything to get set-up correctly so we could run this without seeing the same issue with the old link for them or for any other partner within the network. If you need us to make a change for this, please let Robert know and he will help manage this.

I hope that this does not cause any inconvenience as my goal was to get you going as soon as possible.

Currently they have requested the removal of all antivirus, spyware removal, adware removal and registry cleaner products from their distribution. We still have access to the remainder of the network for antivirus ads and the fixed winfixer ads. Please let me know when you have an answer of the link for winfixer and we can push that out. We can also work on the antivirus keywords to get volume back up.

I am out this week from Wed through Fri at my sister's wedding... and we want to get you back up quickly... so if you need anything at all, starting tomorrow... Do you have any information as to where this may be happening (city or state wise, or in some country)? I think it may be related to some of the session IDs the programmers use. I will try to get the team to research it ASAP. I am in France right now and it is working fine here. I understand their reason to temporarily suspend it of course. Good afternoon! We are seeing something odd with winfixer ads and was hoping you could help so we can get the traffic volume back up. One of our distribution points brought to our attention that we are seeing your links spawn the prompts to download and ext pop to get the user to download...however inside our office we see the ad correctly for this link.

I sent the link to several people outside our offices who are seeing it with the several prompts as the distribution partner mentioned.

Can you let me know what is potentially going on here and how we can get the download to be consistent to only be downloaded from the second page? The partner has no problem with winfixer ads, just has issue with the method of delivery and user complaints on his end. He has blocked winfixer until this is resolved - which is why the volume suddenly dropped. Any help would be great!

Here is the link we used and screenshots.

Can I set this up in an individual account for the advertiser and whoever else might be having problems, after of course you are able to confirm with them there are no longer any problems. Actually nevermind, it wasn't this person. It was bestoffers 110077.

They appear to have shut the Winantivirus accounts off sometime on Saturday (which seems a bit odd). Do you have any idea why they would have shut this traffic off?

I got the notice sometime last week about how they weren't running registry, etc type products. But what would this have to do with an Antivirus product? I know it has a spyware product in it.

Can you let me know if they would be fine if either (their product) isn't in it... (which I'm not sure if it is.. but sometimes spyware companies are) or if not.. are they fine with running just the Antivirus product without any spyware, etc?

Let me know about this, so I can get new ads up asap w/ just the Antivirus

Lilach,

We have the same requirement. Sounds like something has broken on their end. I'll get this resolved asap.

Thanks,

Hi Robert,

Thanks for the daily reports - they are very helpful.

Please note that Winfixer, one of your advertisers, is attempting to install an active-x on the HP they open, which we don't allow in our network. Please remove the active-x from the HP they open or remove winfixer from the rotation.

Please let me know if you have questions.

Thanks,
Lilach

Geoff,

Unfortunately the person who makes my links was out of town. I believe they will be back tomorrow, so I do not yet have new links. I know they looked into the issue and fixed a few things, but I don't think it is fixed overall. I will forward the links to you to check as soon as I receive them. Hopefully early tomorrow morning Eastern time I will have them.

I should also have my new advertisement to try as well around the same time.

Thanks,
Kristy

Geoff,

Finally I have the new links. I am sorry it took so long, they have all sorts of people out on vacation for the holidays.

The links I have given the account number, current link and what to change the link to per each account. Also of course where the lid= we would like the =all or =allids to be the keyword, which you guys always do when changing the links.

If you have any questions, please call me because I am leaving to dinner.
(206) 730 2606

If not, just send me an email to confirm you receive this and when you change them.. Then I can just confirm they are changed properly in the accounts.

Sorry for all the trouble, thanks a bunch - Kristy

Hi Chad, Robert,

Traffic department informed me about a situation concerning our campaign that we need to address urgently. We have received numerous complaints from users that they get a Win Fixer Active X, as you know, we do not allow Active X in our network. The particular ad is serving through MyGeek and we can only view it in full by connecting to a proxy in US. When viewing the ad from the Hotbar office, we receive a different creative.

According to the head of traffic, this means that someone is blocking IP addresses to not allow us view the creative as they are. Also it's clear that this is the intention because the parameter is called "ax=0" (active X) on the tag that doesn't show the active X and "ax=1" on the one that does show it.

As I mentioned, we do not allow these types of offensive ads. Please check this ASAP. If they can't replicate this or need more information, please contact our head of traffic directly at (212)-560-8953 or saarp@hotbar-inc.com Please see below screenshots.

From Hotbar network I see it with no active X:

From the Proxy I see it with the active X:

Geoff,

Winfixer problem again. Need this resolved as soon as possible. With the nature of it appearing correctly to some people and incorrectly to other people, it will be difficult to ensure it is completely fixed - but we need to get it fully resolved so this stops happening in our clients networks - especially after we've told them it has been fixed.

Thanks,

Robert

Sounds good Robert, so lets keep the levels at 300k a day without Winfixer. I am asking though that whenever you anticipate a change in volume due to client canceling campaigns to let me know. Granted, these cancellations can be sudden, but any notification is a great help.

Lilach,

We currently have enough coverage to support the 300K level without the winfixer ads. That can change at any given moment if an advertiser goes inactive, but, looking back at volumes, we've stayed pretty steady around this number.

The problem we've had with those winfixer ads is that we see them correctly in our network - as you do in yours. Since the ads do seem to work correctly when we first get the new URL from them, it's difficult to know when they 'break' and whether or not it is intentional or unintentional. At this point, we can't monitor it closely enough to ensure they don't have the ActiveX downloads on the landing page.

Hi Robert,

I hope you had a nice weekend.

If we remove Winfixer, what daily volume will you be able to fill with minimum defaults? If we keep Winfixer would you be able to monitor their actions more carefully and if so what volume should we expect then?

Please let me know ASAP because we already opened your campaign today and want to know how much volume to send to it.

Thanks,
Lilach

We did remove the winfixer ads from your feed this morning to stop the problem. Since we've had this problem before with this same advertiser, the best course of action is to keep them out of your feed going forward.

Hey Robert –

Thanks for the followup. Let me check if there is anything that we can do on our end to take care of this.

If not we may want to do that block. But since only a few publishers really have a problem – I don't want to go overboard and lose those advertisers if we don't have to.

Thanks again,

Mike

Mike,

Sorry for the problem. We do have the untargeted winfixer accounts in our system blocked from your traffic. We do have a few advertisers that operate like you do in our system - where they create an account and then rotate ads behind the URL they give us. My guess is that is how it would be still coming through, if it is coming from us.

Now, when I say 'untargeted', I am specifically referring to advertisers that are bidding on Run of Network. However, winfixer also has pretty general targets (such as internet, windows, software, etc.) that may match in other categories. That may allow for some apparently 'untargeted' ads being shown. Really the only way to guard against that is to have all Adon Network winfixer accounts blocked from your traffic.

Let me know if you want us to do that.

Thanks,

Robert

Hi Guys -

Is it possible that this is Winfixer ad still coming through to us from you guys?

It may not be coming to us direct from you - but if you could please verify that these types of ads are not coming through to us untargeted (or at all if need be)?

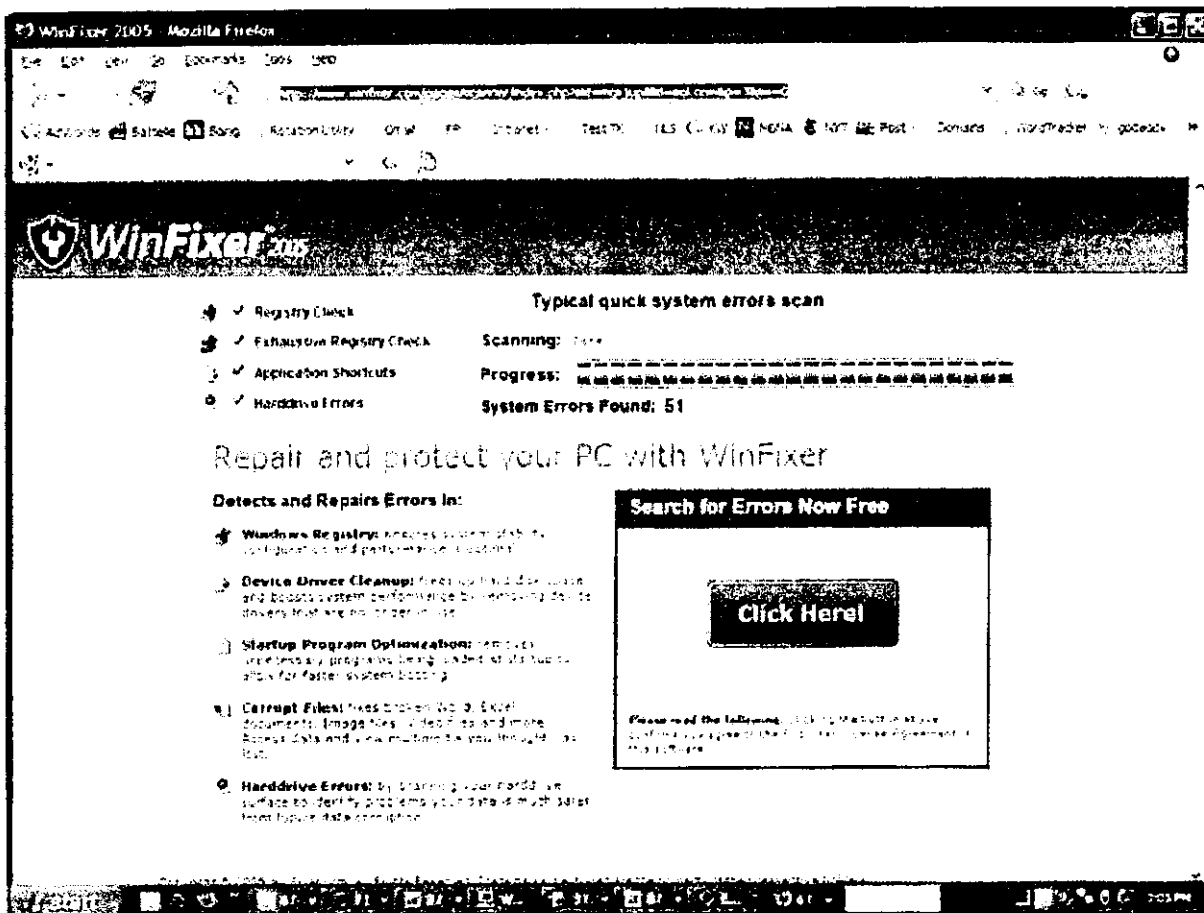

I was testing a tag for our shopping category and saw this come up a few times. We have been getting complaints about these ads in particular from a number of publishers.

Please let me know what you think as soon as you can.

Geoff,

Thanks for letting me know about this, I am in Europe, but will be back in the US for awhile as of Monday. Sorry for not getting back to you sooner. I haven't heard of many issues lately as we were before, but I will try to send you some new link for this and hopefully it will resolve the problem.

Also I got a release today from Lycos about you partnering with them (I have an advertising account there of course). Do you have any additional information about this? I'm glad to see that you do their billing etc, as the Miva system there was horrible. I haven't had much luck with their traffic though, are they a partner through your system also now?

Glad to hear about the traffic being restarted also, I look forward to it.

Thanks,
Kristy

Kristy,

One of our team noticed the winfixer ad doing the prompt issue again through account 89573. It happens sporadically – but thankfully we have caught this before any of the partners in our network have – anyway to resolve this? Let me know so we don't run into problems.

Also the 500140 campaign should be up again soon – we found the problem with the traffic client and should be able to get it resolved in the next day or so – then we can begin running on their list and work to grow it.

There seems to be a very misleading ad from WinAntiVirus:
First off it makes users think it is a message from the Windows Security Center.
It also leads users to believe they have a malicious virus on their PC.
Finally, its title bar is moved up so it neither visible, nor clickable.
I have attached a pic of the creative.

I received the ad from the RON feed while I was on the www.apple.com homepage.
Could you please make sure that all WinAntiVirus creatives are removed

Geoff,

The winantivirus ad coming from 87712 is doing a pop when the client tries it but no pop when I try it here. Looks like it is a similar issue like we had with winfixer before.

Can you turn off all of the winantivirus accounts from their traffic source 110386 today so they can start sending traffic? If Kristy is able to get the ad fixed, we can reintroduce, but if we don't get it on by 5pm EST today, it won't run all weekend.

Hey Robert –

Sorry for all the issues today – we are also getting complaints about WinFixer ads coming through.

http://www.winfixer.com/pages/scanner/index.php?aid=ap1_sm_ca_en&lid=keyin&ex=1&ax=1&ed=2

Can you please make sure that any winfixer ads are blocked from coming through to us from you?

Thanks,

Mike

Hey Robert –

Got another complaint about errorsafe – this is the URL:
http://www.errorsafe.com/pages/scanner/index.php?aid=rdxu4000_us_en_ed2&lid=us&ex=1&p=&ax=1&h=

Can please confirm these ads are no longer coming through? This error is forcing an activex download. . . .

Thanks,

Mike

Mike,

They are looking for these ads now. Do you happen to have URLs that will generate the ads -- or the advertiser's landing URLs?

Hey Robert –

If you can please block any Error Safe and Red Orbit ads from the feed, I would appreciate it.

The Error Safe ads are spawning multiple pops. And we have gotten a number of complaints about Red Orbit for a variety of reasons.

If you can please confirm that these ads are not coming to us from you – that would be great.

Thanks for your help,

Mike
